EXPERIMENT

1. Your task is to invent and create a prototype of a creative device that:
  - will be something that doesn't exist yet,
  - could be useful in a household,
  - will meet the needs of users (will be able to do something important)
  - will be ecological.
2. You can create anything, you can possibly imagine BUT you have to follow rules that are written above.
3. The prototype should be made of things that you can see laying on the table in a front of you.
4. After 15 minutes you should present your invention to others and together shall we decide whether it's creative and original or not.
